Workshop on Moodle Learning

The one-day workshop on Moodle Learning, jointly organized by the Department of Mechanical Engineering, served as a comprehensive platform for educators to delve into the intricacies of leveraging Moodle, an open-source learning platform. Led by Dr. Vikas Acharya, Moodle Coordinator, participants gained practical insights into key aspects such as adding activities, resources, and students to Moodle courses. Through interactive sessions and hands-on demonstrations, attendees not only familiarized themselves with Moodle's functionalities but also acquired essential skills to enhance teaching and learning experiences in the disciplines. The workshop's success, evident in the active participation and positive feedback from participants, underscores its significance in promoting technological innovation and pedagogical excellence within the academic community, laying the foundation for future initiatives aimed at advancing educational practices.
